19 Before the Court is Plaintiffs Linda Underwood, Susan Reaume, Omar Sharif, 20 Russell Milko, and Earlene Milko's Motion to Vacate (#42, filed Nov. 4, 2010) the Arbitrator's 21 Clause Construction Order granting Defendant Palms Place, LLC's Motion to Sever. The Court 22 has also considered Defendant's Opposition (#43, filed Nov. 22, 2010), and Plaintiffs' Reply (#44, 23 filed Dec. 2, 2010).

BACKGROUND

25 This dispute arises from Plaintiffs' purchase of condominium hotel units in the 26 Palms Place Condominium Project, located in Las Vegas, Nevada. Plaintiffs filed suit in this

1 Court on April 17, 2009. (Dkt. #1, Compl.) Plaintiffs allege the following causes of action: (1) 2 declaratory relief, (2) violation of the Interstate Land Sales Full Disclosure Act, 15 USC § 1701 et 3 seq., and/or for exercise of rescission rights under this Act, (3) violation of NRS § 41.600 and 4 NRS § 598 et seq., (4) contractual breach of implied covenant of good faith and fair dealings, and 5 (5)<sup>1</sup> illusory promise. (Dkt. #8, Am. Compl.) Plaintiffs filed this case as a class action on their 6 own and on behalf of a class defined as:

7 all persons or entities who executed purchase and sale agreements (the 8 “Agreements”) with Palms Place, LLC to purchase units in the Palms Place who 9 have not closed their purchase and desire to rescind the agreements and/or recover their deposits and other damages.

(Id. ¶ 21 (capitalization and emphasis omitted.))

10 The Agreements contained an arbitration clause with language establishing that 11 Nevada law shall apply and that any arbitration would be conducted under the Dispute Resolution 12 Rules of the American Arbitration Association (“AAA”). (Dkt. #24-1, Mot. Ex. A, 13 § 24.10.) On February 11, 2010, Defendants filed a Motion to Stay and Compel Arbitration (#24), 14 which the Court granted. (Dkt. #32, Order, Mar. 25, 2010.) Once in arbitration, Defendant moved 15 to sever Plaintiffs’ purported class action complaint and treat it as separate demands for 16 arbitration. In opposition, Plaintiffs argued that although the Agreements are silent as to class 17 arbitration, such group arbitration is permissible on several grounds. Specifically, class arbitration 18 is permissible and appropriate here because the Agreements do not prohibit it, Nevada law and 19 AAA rules permit it, and federal case law finding against class arbitration is not applicable to this 20 case. Nevertheless, the Arbitrator issued a Clause Construction Order granting Defendant’s 21 Motion to Sever. (Dkt. #42, Pls.’ Mot. Ex. 1.)

22 Although the Clause Construction Order acknowledged that Nevada law applied, 23 the Arbitrator did not interpret NRS § 38.224 to authorize class arbitration where the parties’ 24 Agreement was silent on the issue. Plaintiffs had argued that Defendant’s motion should be

1 denied because the Nevada Uniform Arbitration Act of 2000, NRS §§ 38.206–360, allows class 2 arbitration. However, the arbitrator held that NRS § 38.224 “addresses the consolidation of 3 existing matters, not certification of class arbitrations.” (Id. ¶ 11.)

4 The Clause Construction Order recognized that the Agreements’ § 24.10 neither 5 expressly permits nor prohibits class arbitration, rather the provision is silent on that issue. (Id. ¶ 6 12.) The Arbitrator determined that “[s]ilence on an issue in contract precludes adding the issue to 7 the contract by implication. See Parsons Drilling, Inc. v. Polar Resources Co., 98 Nev. 374, 377, 8 659 P.2d 1360, 1363 (1982).” (Id.) Thus, he declined to view the Agreements’ silence on class 9 arbitration to constitute consent. The Arbitrator cited the Supreme Court’s decision in 10 Stolt-Nielsen S.A. v. AnimalFeeds Int’l Corp., 559 U.S. —, 130 S. Ct. 1758 (2010), and stated, 11 “[t]he ‘silence’ here is interpreted as a prohibition on class arbitration, and the arbitrator will not 12 force class arbitration upon parties who did not specifically agree to that method of dispute 13 resolution.” (Id. ¶ 13.)

14 Under Rule 3 of the AAA Supplementary Rules for Class Arbitrations, a party may 15 “move a court of competent jurisdiction to confirm or to vacate the Clause Construction Award.”
 16 Pursuant to this rule, Plaintiffs have now filed a Motion to Vacate the Arbitrator’s Clause 17 Construction Order. For the reasons discussed below, the Court denies the motion.

18 DISCUSSION

19 As a preliminary matter the Court must address Defendant’s assertion that this 20 motion is not ripe for judicial review and, therefore, the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction.
 21 Defendant cites Dealer Computer Services, Inc. v. Dub Herring Ford, 547 F.3d 558 (6th Cir.
 22 2008), to that end and suggests that the Court decline to review the Clause Construction Order.
 23 Although Dealer involved judicial review of a clause construction award, its rationale is 24 inapplicable here. In Dealer, the clause construction award “did not conclusively determine that 25 [the parties’] claims should proceed as a class arbitration.” Id. at 561 (emphasis in original). The 26 award merely found that the arbitration clauses within the parties’ contracts did not preclude class

1 arbitration—"a key distinction" from an award which conclusively grants or denies class 2 certification. Id. at 563. Here, the Arbitrator issued an order conclusively denying class 3 certification. Thus, the issue is ripe for judicial review, and the Court concludes that Plaintiffs' 4 motion satisfies the Article III jurisdictional requirements.

5 I. The Federal Arbitration Act

6 Congress enacted the Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA"), 9 U.S.C. §§ 1–16, in 1925 7 to overcome widespread judicial resistance to arbitration. Buckeye Check Cashing, Inc. v.
 8 Cardegnna, 526 U.S. 440, 441 (2006). The FAA's overarching purpose is to ensure the 9 enforcement of arbitration agreements according to their terms so as to facilitate informal, 10 streamlined proceedings. AT&T Mobility LLC v. Concepcion, 563 U.S. ----, 2011 WL 1561956, 11 at *8 (Apr. 27, 2011); see also Stolt-Nielsen, 130 S. Ct. 1758. Courts must place arbitration 12 agreements on an equal footing with other contracts, Cardegnna, 526 U.S. at 443, and enforce them 13 according to their terms, Volt Information Sciences., Inc. v. Bd. of Trs. of Leland Standard Jr.
 14 Univ., 489 U.S. 468, 478 (1989). Section 2 of the FAA makes agreements to arbitrate "valid, 15 irrevocable, and enforceable, save upon such grounds as exist at law or in equity for the revocation 16 of any contract." 9 U.S.C. § 2. In accordance with FAA provisions, parties may agree to limit the 17 issues subject to arbitration, Mitsubishi Motors Corp. v. Soler Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., 473 U.S.
 18 614, 628 (1985), to arbitrate according to specific rules, Volt, 489 U.S. at 479, and to limit with 19 whom they will arbitrate, Stolt-Nielsen, 130 S. Ct. at 1763.

20 II. Plaintiffs' Motion

21 Plaintiffs argue that the Court should vacate the Arbitrator's Clause Construction 22 Order for three reasons: (1) the Arbitrator exceeded his authority; (2) the award is arbitrary, 23 capricious, and unsupported by the agreement; and (3) the Arbitrator demonstrated a manifest 24 disregard of the law. These arguments include both federal and state grounds for vacating an 25 arbitration award. The Court will address each argument in turn.

26 ///

1                   A.     Exceeding Arbitral Power

2                   Under the FAA, a district court may issue “an order vacating the award upon the 3 application of any party to the arbitration ... where the arbitrators exceeded their powers.” 9 U.S.C.
 4 § 10(a)(4). Arbitrators do not “exceed their powers” when they merely interpret or apply the 5 governing law incorrectly, but when the award is “completely irrational.” Kyocera Corp. v.
 6 Prudential-Bache Trade Services, Inc., 341 F.3d 987, 997 (9th Cir. 2003) (citing French v. Merrill 7 Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., 784 F.2d 902, 906 (9th Cir. 1986)).

8                   Plaintiffs argue that the Arbitrator lacked authority to grant Defendant’s Motion to 9 Sever the class action complaint and treat it as separate demands for arbitration. Defendant points 10 out that the Arbitrator had the authority to interpret the arbitration clause and determine whether 11 the clause permits class proceedings, regardless of the additional fact that Defendant sought to 12 sever the claims. The Court agrees. The AAA rules clearly allowed the Arbitrator to determine 13 whether the Agreements permit class proceedings. The Court therefore concludes that this 14 argument lacks merit.

15                   B.     Grounds to Vacate under Nevada Law

16                   In addition to the FAA, Nevada law provides several conditions under which a 17 court could vacate an arbitrator’s award. See generally, NRS § 38.241. The Nevada Supreme 18 Court has also recognized two common-law grounds under which a court may review private 19 binding arbitration awards: (1) whether the award is arbitrary, capricious, or unsupported by the 20 Agreements; and (2) whether the arbitrator manifestly disregarded the law. Clark Cnty. Educ.
 21 Ass’n v. Clark Cnty. School Dist., 131 P.3d 5, 8 (Nev. 2006) (citation omitted).

22                   1.     Was the Clause Construction Order Arbitrary, Capricious, or 23 Unsupported by the Agreements?

24                   “The arbitrary-and-capricious standard does not permit a reviewing court to vacate 25 an arbitrator’s award based on a misinterpretation of the law.” Id. Rather, the review is limited to 26 “whether the arbitrator’s findings are supported by substantial evidence in the record.” Id.

1 Plaintiffs assert that the Clause Construction Order is arbitrary, capricious, and 2 unsupported by the Agreements. To the contrary, the Order methodically analyzed § 24.10 of the 3 Agreements, the AAA Rules, and the Nevada statute governing consolidated arbitration. The 4 Order concluded that § 24.10 is “silent on class arbitration.” (Dkt. #42, Ex. 1 ¶ 6 (emphasis in 5 original).) Applying Nevada law, the Arbitrator determined that silence did not constitute consent 6 to class arbitration. The Court is unsure how this conclusion could be unsupported by the 7 Agreements when § 24.10 is devoid of language explicitly authorizing class arbitration.

8 Plaintiffs repeatedly argue that § 24.10 does not prohibit class arbitration.
 9 However, an absence of such prohibition does not tacitly suggest approval. Moreover, this 10 argument only serves to underscore the Arbitrator’s authority to interpret the Agreements.
 11 Without an outright prohibition of class arbitration either in the FAA or Nevada statutes or the 12 Agreements themselves, the Arbitrator was free to interpret § 24.10 as precluding class arbitration.
 13 Thus, the Arbitrator’s findings are supported by substantial evidence in the record. Because the 14 Order specifically addresses the parties’ contentions and applicable rules and statutes, the Court 15 finds that the Order was neither arbitrary nor capricious.

16 2. Did the Arbitrator Manifestly Disregard the Law?

17 A court may also vacate an award if an arbitrator demonstrates a “manifest 18 disregard of the law.” First Options of Chicago, Inc. v. Kaplan, 514 U.S. 938, 942 (1995); 19 Wichinsky v. Mosa, 847 P.2d 727, 731 (Nev. 1993). However, “[j]udicial inquiry under the 20 manifest-disregard-of-the-law standard is extremely limited.” Bohlmann v. Printz, 96 P.3d 1155, 21 1158 (Nev. 2004). “In such instance, ‘the issue is not whether the arbitrator correctly interpreted 22 the law, but whether the arbitrator, knowing the law and recognizing that the law required a 23 particular result, simply disregarded the law.’” Clark Cnty. Educ. Ass’n, 131 P.3d at 8 (citing 24 Bohlmann, 96 P.3d at 1158).

1                   Plaintiffs argue that the Arbitrator manifestly disregarded the law because the 2 federal case law cited by the Arbitrator is not applicable here and because Nevada law permits 3 arbitration to be conducted on a group basis.

4                   i.        Federal Case Law Regarding Class Arbitration

5                   Plaintiffs assert that the Arbitrator incorrectly applied the Supreme Court's decision 6 in Stolt-Nielsen, 130 S. Ct. 1758, because it involved interpretation of the FAA, not state law as 7 applicable here. This argument is without merit as the FAA is broadly applicable to all arbitration 8 agreements involving commerce, whether or not they have a choice-of-law provision embracing 9 state law. In the alternative, Plaintiffs assert that Stolt-Nielsen is distinguishable on its underlying 10 facts. While it certainly involved distinguishable facts, that circumstance is of no consequence. In 11 Stolt-Nielsen, the relevant arbitration clause lacked express language permitting or prohibiting 12 class arbitration. The same is true for § 24.10 of the Agreement at issue here. In these situations, 13 the Supreme Court instructed arbitrators and courts to conduct a choice-of-law analysis, determine 14 the default rule under that law, and apply the default rule accordingly. Id. at 1768; see also 15 Picardi v. Eighth Jud. Dist. Ct., - - P.3d - - - -, 127 Nev. Adv. Op. 9, 2011 WL 1205284, at *5 16 (Nev. Mar. 31, 2011) (citing Stolt-Nielsen and recognizing that an arbitrator must apply the default 17 rule of the law under which an arbitration clause is construed). Thus, Stolt-Nielsen properly 18 guides an arbitrator's decision in any arbitration where the parties' agreement is silent concerning 19 class arbitration, as was the case here.

20                   In this case, the Arbitrator properly identified Nevada law in a choice-of-law 21 analysis consistent with Stolt-Nielsen. He then stated that NRS § 38.224 was inapplicable because 22 it addresses "consolidation of existing matters, not certification of class arbitrations." (Dkt. #42, 23 Ex. 1 ¶ 11.) From this statement, the Court can infer that the Arbitrator concluded that the Nevada 24 Uniform Arbitration Act lacks a "default rule" on class arbitration. No Nevada case law directly 25 addresses this issue, and NRS § 38.224 is the only Nevada statute to come close. As a result, the 26 Arbitrator properly applied "generally applicable state contract law." Picardi, 2011 WL 1205284, at *4 (citing Allied-Bruce Termini Cos. v. Dobson, 513 U.S. 265, 281 (1995)). He determined, “[s]ilence on an issue in contract precludes adding the issue to the contract by implication. See Parsons Drilling, Inc. v. Polar Resources Co., 98 Nev. 374, 377, 659 P.2d 1360, 1363 (1982).” (Dkt. #42, Ex. 1 ¶ 12.) The Clause Construction Order, therefore, demonstrates that the Arbitrator did not disregard the law, rather he knew the law and interpreted it as he saw fit.

ii. NRS § 38.224 - Consolidation of Separate Arbitration Proceedings

Finally, Plaintiffs maintain that the Arbitrator manifestly disregarded the law because NRS § 38.224 allows class arbitration. They also claim that Nevada case law is consistent with Nevada statutes in this regard. However, Plaintiffs gloss over a critical distinction: these cases and this statute involve consolidated arbitration—not class arbitration. One need only examine the relatively low requirements for consolidation of proceedings (i.e. common questions of law and fact, expediency, and economy) versus the extensive class requirements (i.e. class representatives must fairly and adequately protect the class’ interests, class members are so numerous that separate proceedings are impracticable) to see the difference. The difference cannot be overlooked because class arbitration fundamentally changes the nature of the arbitration, whereas consolidated arbitration aims to simplify its procedural aspects.

The Supreme Court was careful to point this out in Stolt-Nielsen, “class-action arbitration changes the nature of arbitration to such a degree that it cannot be presumed the parties consented to it by simply agreeing to submit their disputes to an arbitrator.” 130 S. Ct. at 1765; see also AT&T Mobility LLC v. Concepcion, 563 U.S. ----, 2011 WL 1561956, at *8 (Apr. 27, 2011) (reiterating that a switch from bilateral to class arbitration without explicit consent is inconsistent with the FAA). Furthermore, the parties’ assumptions at the time they agreed to arbitrate are potentially frustrated by class arbitration because “[t]he arbitrator’s award no longer purports to bind just the parties to a single arbitration agreement, but adjudicates the rights of absent parties as well.” Id. at 1766. Consolidated arbitration, on the other hand, does not bind

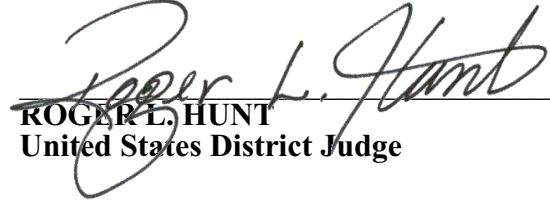

1 absent parties. Based on the above, the Arbitrator's conclusion that NRS § 38.224 does not 2 address certification of class arbitrations was not contrary to law, and the Court finds that the 3 Clause Construction Order was not a manifest disregard of the law.

4 CONCLUSION

5 Accordingly, and for good cause appearing,

6 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Plaintiff's Motion to Vacate the Arbitrator's 7 Clause Construction Order (#42) is DENIED.
